they are foam, wash them in your sink. You will need to clean the drain hoses out as they have something in them, dirt build up most likely. <http://ccmcambodia.org/userfiles/cadence-synthesis-manual.xml>

If they have a drain trough for the condensation to drain to the hose, clean this also. If you have no compressed air tank to blow them out, you can try and lay something down to keep things dry, and try and pour hot water down the drains to open them up. Fill it with air and blow them out. This will solve this condensation problem. Best of luck to you, and happy Holidays, Shastalaker7 If you are in Australia, the Dimplex Customer Service number is 1300 6739 033. As this is a long obsolete model, Glen Dimplex Australia unfortunately has no service information available for these units and as such we are unable to offer any assistance in relation to supply of spare parts for same. Please accept my apologies for any inconvenience that this information may cause. Martin Like Share More 1 answer GLEN D. Dimplex 2 years ago Hi Martin, Your appliance was brought into the country by a company called Hagemeyer and therefore we do not have any parts for this model. If you contact your local air conditioning repairer they may be able to assist with a generic exhaust pipe to fit. Like Report Vicki Daniel asked 2 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Hi I am buying a second hand unit and would like to know how heavy they are to move around please. Like Share More 1 answer Albinus 2 years ago Theyre about 32KG but do move on castors quite easily. Leave it still and upright for 24 hours before powering up after moving it to be kind on the compressor. Like Report Michael D asked 3 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW I purchased a DAC12005 second hand and it doesnt have the Gob or window kit. I was looking at replacements but can only seem to find 13cm or 15cm Gob online. What are the dimensions of the exhaust tube. And are there possible replacements. Like Share More 2 answers Danielle D. Dimplex 3 years ago Hi Michael D Unfortunately, the model listed is one that was imported originally by Hagemeyers Australia now Shriro Australia Pty Ltd under the Dimplex brand name many years previously.

Like Report Denise 3 years ago Michael I just measured mine and it is 13cm. I had holes cut in my fixed windows, because of my stupid wind out windows. I am pretty sure it also came with a foam like material. It could fit into a sliding or push up window, it had a hole cut in it for the air out tube. I think you could make something like this pretty easily. You just need to be able to let the air out of the tube, and keep the outside air out. Like Report Roxie asked 3 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Hi there, where can I purchase a drainage pipe or hose for the DAC12005 model. I dont have one and I am finding the red light comes on after 3 hrs of use, indicating water tray is filled. When I move the unit to empty it in the shower it spills water out all over the carpet which is not ideal. Like Share More 1 answer Albinus 3 years ago Raise the unit on something like a bedside table. Then directly hook a piece of half inch garden hose from the drain into a watering can. We get about a litre an hour condensing. As long as you dont sleep more than 9 hours straight this works well and you can reuse the watering can on your pot plants. Like Report Trevor Hardy asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Where can I buy bucket and hose fittings for outlet. Like Share More 1 answer Albinus 4 years ago A standard 12mm garden hose heated up with a hair dryer or heat gun will fit over the barb. Youll need to raise the unit on a cabinet or something else to allow gravity to drain the condensation. We use a watering can but in humid environments you will collect over a litre per hour so not the best choice for overnight unless youre up once or twice to monitor. Like Report Steptoe asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Do I have to use continuous drainage. Or can I plug the drainage hole. Like Share More 4 answers Denise 4 years ago I never use the continuous drainage. Just fill it up and empty it for storage every year. Like Report Danielle D.

<http://www.familyreunionapp.com/family/events/boss-br-8-digital-recording-studio-manual>

Dimplex 4 years ago Hi Steptoe it is recommended that the drainage plug remain in place at all times. The only exception is for days of very high humidity whereby the tank is likely to fill quickly and repeatedly. The instructions for running the unit in this manner can be found in the Owners

Manual. Like Report Steptoe 4 years ago Thank you very much for your quick response. Like Report View 1 more answer Hayford Saint Afotey asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW My DAC 12005 turns off after 15 minutes of cold air then blows hot air. What might be the problem. Like Share More 3 answers Albinus 4 years ago Compressor issue or low on gas. Like Report Lucy G. 9 months ago Have you filled with 800mls of water. Do this for first time use, then, after operating, if the red light comes on, the water will need to be drained. When the red light is on, the compressor is off. The exhaust hose also needs to be positioned from the unit to the window correctly. Like Report Angela C. Dimplex 9 months ago Hi Hayford Saint Afotey, Model Number DAC12005 is an obsolete model. This model was distributed by Hagemeyer and when they ceased distribution their part production was also ceased by their supplier. Unfortunately due to this we cannot obtain any parts for your unit and also do not have any operations information. Like Report Meredith Valentine asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW I have no instructions. Can you send me how to operate please. Like Report Lucy G. 9 months ago Fill 800mls of water in the pull out tray located on the back of the unit. Position the exhaust hose to the window so the hot air can escape smoothly no kinks or sagging. If the red light comes on during usage, empty the water from the black drain hose under the pull out tray. Like Report Roxie asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Where do you put the water for the DC12005 model, I have been trying to look for a hole in the unit but can not locate one.

<http://www.gelbyson.com/images/Dialogic-Isup-Programmer-S-Manual.pdf>

Can anyone assist Like Share More 3 answers Denise 4 years ago At the back down the bottom is a little drawer. Pull this out and use a jug or something with a spout. I think it is 800mls. I am not home at the moment but if you have any more problem I can send a photo. Like Report Regina 4 years ago You don't add water. Water does come out of it at the rear attach a hose to this and run out window. Like Report Danielle D. Dimplex 4 years ago Hi Roxie Happy New Year. My apologies for the delay in our getting back to you!! There are 2 different series of the DAC12005 one requires water and one does not. Should your unit have a small water deposit slot at the base of the rear, you can certainly add water to assist in the best performance from initial start up no more than 800mls as advised previously by Denise. If you would like to receive a copy of the Owners Manual relevant to the model that you have, please call our Customer Care team on 1300 556 816 we are back on board and ready to take your call. Danielle on behalf of the team at Dimplex Like Report Simon K asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Can the DAC 12005 be regassed. Like Share More 2 answers Denise 4 years ago I have no idea sorry. I have had mine for many years, probably around 10 years. I have never even thought about regassing. Like Report Simon K 4 years ago Thanks Denise. I just noticed someone else had asked the same question, and it had been answered by the company. Like Report Lance Robati asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Does it need water. Like Share More 3 answers Albinus 4 years ago No. Its a refrigerative unit not evaporative. Condensation is a byproduct that collects in the drip tray. Like Report Smithy 4 years ago If you read the instruction manual, yes it does need water. It will aid the cooling process in a dry environment like South Australia. In the tropics or other humid environment it will condense the water out of the air faster than it can use it and so will need to be drained.

<http://i-facet.com/images/Dialogic-D120Jct-Ls-Manual.pdf>

Like Report Albinus 4 years ago Smithy there are two versions of the unit. One has no ability to add water and the other just helps initial cooling in dry climates as you mentioned. Like Report Judy asked 4 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Is it possible to get a timer switch assembly as a spare part anymore. Like Share More 1 answer Albinus 4 years ago Dimplex do have decent spares but I believe support for this model has been discontinued. You can always purchase a plug in timer for the power cord instead. Like Report les asked 5 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Can you refill gas. Like Share More 2 answers Steve C Dimplex 5 years ago Yes you can refill the gas but it must be done by an authorised refrigeration mechanic. The only reason it would run out of gas is if it had a gas leak.

This could be a very costly repair. Like Report Albinus 5 years ago Yes its possible but a refrigeration mechanic must do the repair. Unusual for an air conditioner not in a vehicle to leak however. Like Report keza asked 5 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW How much does this model cost now. Like Share More 3 answers Albinus 5 years ago Theyre not available new anymore. Second hand a couple of hundred in good condition. Like Report keza 5 years ago Thx. R parts still available. Like Report Ambi asked 8 years ago DAC12005 3.5kW Duping need to put water in the unit or drain it at all Like Share More 1 answer Muffinguy 8 years ago You cn use the small tray at the back to fill with about 800mls of water. If the 4th light on the panel comes on it means it is over filled. This water is used for the dehumidifying function of the unit, and also to help the unit to cool better. If the water light comes on 4th light on the panel then simply drain the unit by removing the stopper at the back.
