All large horse power tractors use hydrostatic steering, only the lower price tractors from China, Japan and India use mechanical power steering. Most of economy tractor models use just one pump, which is cheaper to produce. Cast iron is the best and strongest material however it is more expensive to produce. The wonderful thing about Branson is that you get cast iron on all Branson Tractor models. Powder coat finish prevents UV damage to the paint bringing longevity to our paint. Unlike fiberglass or plastic fenders and hoods, we use STEEL which will not crack in cold climates. The advantage of a wet disc brake is very simple, it is in a protected environment and the brake discs are running in hydraulic fluid. All of the larger horse power utility tractors use independent PTO. Independent PTO gives the operator much more control over his PTO function, plus it reduces the chance of the operator burning out his clutch because he no longer needs to engage the clutch pedal to control his PTO function.

However, we went the extra mile and for those customers who want to stop the PTO with the clutch, they can do so by switching to the link position on the tractor's PTO function switch. The seat is fully adjustable from every angle. This comfortable seat has six positions for the operator's convenience. The wide seat is adjustable. The gear shift and hydraulic operations are easy to understand and operate. The overhead controls are easy to operate.
